

Donna Jean Ladonga

April 28, 1954 - September 30, 2011

Donna J. Ladonga of Denair passed away early Friday (Sept. 30) morning surrounded by family.

Donna was born in Memphis Tennessee but lived most of her life in California.

Through the years and in between making a home for her family, she worked in many local canneries processing the valley's almonds, peaches, broccoli, spinach, basil and more.

Donna loved to care for her own garden of flowers and produce, tending among others, a cherished wysteria vine from her father's garden.

The simple beauties in life moved donna's spirit and she made sure to capture every one by photograph or video as they presented themselves; a cow in a pasture, a spring flower, her childrens' artwork or her husband's music.

Donna was known to always have a camera or video camera in hand. Most of the time she would have both.

She enjoyed the company of family and friends often. She will always be remembered for her kind and gentle spirit, her courage and her capacity for seeing beauty all around her.

Donna is survived by her husband Steve, daughters Kellie, of Turlock, Emily of Denair and Melanie of Highland, CA, granddaughter Zowie, brothers David Wasylina of Turlock and Carl Wasylina of Mississippi, sisters Mary Strang of Atwater, Billie Wasylina of Turlock and Joanne Buffer of Atwater and many nieces and nephews.

“ As I read the biography I was struck by how much Donna's creativity, zeal for life and photography flair lives on in her daughters. I'm truly sorry that her life was cut short and no platitude will suffice, again I'm really sorry for such a tremendous loss.
