

Gail Goertemiller

April 27, 1942 - December 11, 2021

Gail Goertemiller, a resident of Turlock, CA, for over 30 years, was born in Los Angeles, CA, to Leonard and Adele Perkins. In 1962 Gail married Howard Fields and started her family. Her daughter, Eugina, was born during the German measles epidemic, and due to that was deaf. For that reason, Gail had been very supportive and helpful in the deaf community. She helped out in the Special Olympics and various other events that her daughter Eugina competed in over the years.

Growing up she had a love for Theater Arts. That love led her to open her own business; Masquerade Madness Costume Rentals, in Turlock, in 1988. Masquerade Madness thrived for over 18 years.

Gail is survived by her daughter, Eugina Joy Fields, and her son, Darren Fields. She was preceded in death by her son, Kevin; her husband, Donald; her brother, Robert; and her sister, Joyce.

She will be laid to rest with her true love, Donald Goertemiller, at the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno, CA.

“ Gail was a very dear friend. God blessed us with a special friendship. We have shared Christmas together for the past 31 years. This is the first Christmas that we have not got together. She loves Christmas and it was always a special time for her. She always decorated so much her house was always so beautiful .

Gail and I met at Hospice grief group. Her and Georgia and Gwen and I had a special relationship from the start we had all lost our husbands and our hearts were broken. God blessed our friendship and we helped each other. We went lots of places, lunches and dinners together , travel together. Enjoyed going to Fort Bragg and enjoyed the beautiful sites and good eats.

Things slowed down 10 years ago. I had medical problems and couldn't do a lot but we still did Christmas and sometimes lunch. Thank God for telephones. The Covid came along and shut things down. Gail didn't have Covid, but she was very sick and trying to breathe and I stayed away so that I wouldn't take anything to her.

Gail was very active until her condition worsened. She was very talented in lots of areas. She was creative and always did perfectly beautiful work .Everything had to be perfect and neat. Her parties were just fantastic ,so much love and work went into each one. She would send me a handmade beautiful Christmas card each year and this year she sent my card early. It was gorgeous. I will always keep it and display it at Christmas time and remember our blessed friendship.

Gail always talked about her children Darren and Gina She was always concerned about them . I will miss you Gail and look forward to eternity in heaven .She had a big heart for her fellow man. I asked her if her heart was right with the lord and she said everything was ok.

Now you are breathing great and no more pain, HEAVEN is a WONDERFUL place.

lots and lots of love,

*Your Friend
Betty.*
