“ *Time to remember, thoughts go to our beloved.
We gather where the autumn leaves have land and think of loved ones.
It was as much as we would have said, but we never had time.
The heart is elated of love which lights shine so beautifully and thoughts go to our beloved right now.
But life is both joy and sorrow when we gather this chilly night and think back to how it once was.
Grief can be turned to joy when we know they do not have pain, and it's just like they say, that thanks to you there.*

“To my beloved father:

Thank you for gave me life, grateful that, I got you as a father.

I have so many beautiful, bright, and precious memories of you. I always look with admiration and respect to you and been proud to have you as a father.

You were intelligent, fair and wise adviser who created opportunities in difficult situations for other people, counsellors in distress as people turned to you, as a last resort.

We will meet again. It's me convinced. As my Lord said in John 11:25

Jesus said to her, "I am the resurrection and the life. The one who believes in me will live, even though they die;

You will always be a part of my heart. Thank you that you were always there for me.

It was an obeisance greeting to you, my beloved father from: naz."
