“ Pat was a warm and welcoming woman who made everyone feel loved and remembered. She had a special place in her heart for her great-granddaughter, Rylie Rogers, and cherished every moment with her. One special memory that stands out is when Rylie participated in a fashion show for the store Justice—Pat was there, proudly cheering her on as Rylie strutted down the runway.

Pat never forgot a birthday or special occasion, always finding a way to make others feel important. Even when she couldn't be there in person, she made sure to send her love with a phone call.

She will be deeply missed by all who knew and loved her. Our hearts are with her family during this difficult time.
