“ Mamma. Such a beautiful lady. Thank you so much for letting me care for you. Even though we couldn't communicate we made it through almost two years. It was a pleasure. You taught me to be patient and love eggs, ginger and rice. I miss you so. Ever day you would say mamma no good , but mamma you are good. You raised eight wonderful children. They loved you to no limits. Your joy were your grandkids and great grandkids. When your grandkids would visit you had the biggest smile! Mama your stairway to heaven was very short for you. God knew you were tired and wanted you home. God bless you.

“ What I knew Mrs. Yoke Lin Leu was not enough to write an obituary about her life journey, though I knew her through my brother- in- law , Yick

She was an 'easy -going lady that everyone enjoyed to be around with her. What it stunned me was that she was also a person with a strong will- she raised all of their children right and all of them contribute to our society greatly- we all admired her and missed her tremendously
